

Andrew Norcross

Lead WordPress Developer at BlueGlass Interactive & Reaktiv Studios

Tampa, FL, US

Rogue nerd programmer extraordinaire, specializing in WordPress theme and plugin development. Will not bore you to death.

Biography

Web developer and WordPress savant Andrew Norcross, or “Norcross”, is a ninjaneer: he does the job rightly, and precisely, and few who benefit from the results of his actions will ever know with surety the power of his facility, or even that he was there at all.

Shown to life in the Cradle of Attitude. (That would be Boston, where the Charles and Mystic Rivers serve, sullenly, as a convenient analogue to the Tigris and Euphrates.) Nurtured in the humid folds of America’s Wang – Florida, home of superior beardy-punk and default destination for every freak possessed of neither style nor the gas money to get to California. Schooled in ... well, you know, school, and educated in somebody else’s idea of fulfillment via a lengthy and successful stint with a global finance concern right after his first college go-round, Norcross ditched collared shirts and currency conversion tables in favor of making a living out of his lifelong love for details, computer language and sarcasm.
