Testimonials

Rick Calvert

One of the most exciting developments for entrepreneurs and small businesses owners of the new media age has been the ability to outsource tasks that only larger businesses could afford in the past. Unfortunately most small business owners still don't know about this powerful tool.

Chris's talk on outsourcing at BlogWorld blew our attendees minds! They had no idea about the various kinds of outsourcing capabilities at their fingertips.

Chris was able to open their eyes to a whole new world.

Mike Michalowicz

Outsourcing is the most important trend of the past 20 years. Master it and you will grow a competitive company with a real shot at success. Ignore it, and you may have just put the first nail in your corporations' coffin.

Chris Ducker is THE outsourcing go-to-guy, without question. Ignore what he teaches at your own peril.

Peter Shankman

I have one rule - Do what you do well, and outsource the rest. Why? Because if you're wasting your time doing things you don't do well, someone else is eating your lunch.

Run your business, and let Chris Ducker show you how to Outsource!

Dave Crenshaw

I consider Chris Ducker to be one of the top experts when it comes to outsourcing. Not only does he know it, he lives it.

Plus, he's a Bruce Lee fan, so that makes him even cooler!

Dale Beaumont

We invited Chris to speak at our annual conference, where he delivered two powerful business sessions on outsourcing in front of over 250 business clients.

The feedback on his overall coaching style was exceptional, with many saying their businesses would not be where they are today without meeting Chris and learning from him.

We're looking forward to having him back at one of our conferences in the future.
