

Chris McBride

Professor of Psychological Science at University of Mary Washington

Fredericksburg, VA, US

Professor, Department of Psychological Science

Description

Christine A. McBride, Professor of Psychology, earned both a Ph.D. (1994) and M.A. (1992) in psychology from the University of California at Riverside and a B.A. (1987) in psychology from the University of Portland. Among her publications are co-authored articles published in the Archives of Family Medicine, Social Science and Medicine, Health Values, Journals of the American Dental Association, Journal of Applied Social Psychology, Feminist Teacher, and Teaching of Psychology. Her research interests cover a range of topics currently being debated, including attitudes toward individuals with serious illnesses, patient satisfaction with medical care, and women's mental health. Dr. McBride also is a recipient of the University's Outstanding Young Faculty Member Award.

Industry Expertise

Health and Wellness, Mental Health Care, Health Care - Providers, Health Care - Services, Research

Topics

Medical Satisfaction, Health Values, Women's Mental Health, Social Psychology

Affiliations

American Psychological Association

Education

University of California

Ph.D. Psychology

University of California

M.A. Psychology

University of Portland

B.A. Psychology

Accomplishments

University of Mary Washington's Outstanding Young Faculty Member Award.

The Alumni Association Outstanding Young Faculty Member Award, established in 1989, recognizes the achievement and contribution of a faculty member who has been at the University from two to five years. The faculty rank shown is the person's rank at the time of the award.

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.