

Christoph Lindner

Professor and Dean of the College of Design at University of Oregon

Eugene, OR, US

Interdisciplinary urban and cultural theorist spanning the fields of architecture, geography, visual culture, and urban planning and design.

Description

Christoph Lindner is an expert in the impact of globalization on the space and communities of contemporary cities and can speak to the politics of urban pollution, postindustrial decay, gentrification, urban creativity, and architectural design in cities such as New York, Amsterdam, London, and Paris. At the University of Oregon, he is dean of the College of Design. Lindner is also an honorary research professor in Cultural Analysis at the University of Amsterdam and was professor of Media and Culture there, where he launched and directed the Amsterdam School for Cultural Analysis Cities Project and served as founding director of the Netherlands Institute for Cultural Analysis. His research and writings span architecture, urban planning, design, art, visual culture, art history, and even James Bond.

Industry Expertise

Education/Learning

Topics

Contemporary Architecture and Design, Globalization and Cities, Gentrification, Politics of Urban Pollution, Postindustrial Decay, Urban Creativity, Popular Media and Culture

Affiliations

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.