

Corrina Laughlin

Instructor of Communication Studies, College of Communication and Fine Arts at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Instructor of Communication Studies

---

Biography

Corrina Laughlin is an Instructor within the college of Communication and Fine Arts in the Communication Studies department and whose research and teaching focuses on Media Studies. She received her B.A. in English and Religious Studies from the University of California, Santa Barbara and she holds an M.A. in English from New York University and a Ph.D. in Communication from the Annenberg School for Communication at the University of Pennsylvania. She has presented her research on the intersection between digital culture and religion nationally and internationally and has been published in journals in Communication and in Anthropology. In addition to her academic work, she has been involved in producing ethnographic and documentary films that have shown at film festivals and academic conferences. Her current research focuses on how celebrity functions in digital culture especially as it relates to religious belonging and spiritual expression.

---

Education

University of California at Santa Barbara

BA English and Religious Studies

New York University

MA English

University of Pennsylvania

Ph.D Communication

---

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.