Biography

My transferable, but quite applicable innovation, creativity, and determination in sales led to success needed to garner mindshare and market-share during a particularly difficult period when any sales organization was evolving its "go-to-market offering" to meet the needs of a more "self-service" oriented user community.

My territory development efforts are what ultimately led me to find Zealr with the goal of creating a commercial offering for executing a curated, process-driven approach to achieving brand visibility and awareness, in the same way, I used at IBM, HP, and TIBCO.
