You're Already Doing It: What to Do When You Can't NOT Communicate

David offers practical insights on how top leaders differentiate themselves. From learning the realities of a new workplace where leaders must be communicators to understanding how communication can directly influence the bottom line, audiences take away valuable perspective, best practices, and proven, actionable tools that they can start using right away.

21st Century Communications: Successful strategies to deliver authentic communications that engage employees and build reputation

In today's fast-paced, high-tech, multi-dimensional business environment, leaders compete to get their messages through to employees and new lessons are emerging from today's corporate front-line. Join David as he shares key learnings from his experiences with leaders and employees of Fortune 500 companies around the globe. Learn the Top 10 Standout Strategies that leaders and communicators can use to bring humanity and corporate character to the workplace and help leaders connect with employees

The Power of Internal Branding: The Communicator's Secret Weapon

Building great brands starts on the inside. In today's uncertain times, how do you drive engagement with employees that empowers them to help you build your organization's reputation and deliver on your Brand Promise? What might the impact be of harnessing the power of your internal audiences to tell your story and advocate for your organization? Learn the promise and power of a strong internal brand.

Getting to Great: How to Fast-Track Your Leadership Impact

Leaders are made, not born. Whether a team leader or not, everyone can sharpen the leadership and influencing skills needed for both professional and personal growth. If you want to advance your career, work more effectively with your teams, and better serve your clients, you need to develop the ability to truly lead and influence — not just manage and direct.

Face-to-Face Communication: Proven Approaches from the "Anti-Social Media Guy"

Facebook, LinkedIn, MySpace, Facebook, Twitter — while technology might seem faster and easier, it's not the end-all-be-all connector or motivator. The truth is employees crave a real connection and they want to be inspired and engaged through good ol' fashioned conversation. Turn off the Blackberry and open your eyes to what's possible when you're "about face."

Testimonials

Attendee

"Wow—great session! Pertinent info, presented in a way I understand. Thank You."

Attendee

"David's presentation was EXCELLENT...couldn't have been more pleased."

Senior Leader

"I just wanted to let you know that a number of staff mentioned to me (unprompted) how valuable and timely they found David's presentation. It appears to have really hit the mark!"

Susan Schmitt

"If you aren't using the principles that David teaches, you are not optimizing the power of your people."

Vice President

"I thought the session really hit on a highly relevant subject and was really useful. I learned something new which is always a great feeling and it will help in my continued leadership development."

Stephanie DeDeaux

"Learned so much from David's workshop based on "You Can't Not Communicate." Can't wait to learn more!"

Attendee

"This session was incredible. Worth the entire conference fee."

Attendee

"Excellent speaker/presentation. Lots of good practical information organized in very useable way. Tangible take-aways!"

Attendee

"This [presentation] contributed to my personal growth and development..."

Attendee

"Captivating Speaker... very engaging. [David] shares valuable information with insights on how to apply it!"

Attendee

"The communications presentation was very good. There are very few presenter's who can talk to a group that large for only an hour and have them walk away with both theory and some tactical tools that can be applied the next day."

Rick Phillips

"David Grossman nails the detailed nuances as well as the basic blocking and tackling about leadership communication."

Patricia M. Crull, Ph.D.

"David Grossman takes the common sense of great communication and provides the tools, techniques, and motivation to help every business leader—from supervisor to CEO—make it common practice."

Attendee

"David is an excellent presenter. He kept the workshop moving quickly and the information was absolutely relevant."

John Greisch

"Grossman's combination of instinctual perception and practical advice is rare."

David B. Speer

"Grossman's principles and fundamentals for effective communications are constant reminders that to truly make progress, we need to share information across our company in the right way, at the right time, with the right people."
