Health care thought leader on the bleeding edge - Engaging speaker, expert insights

Biography

DAVID HARLOW is Principal of The Harlow Group LLC, a health care law and consulting firm based in the Hub of the Universe, Boston, MA. His thirty years' experience in the public and private sectors affords him a unique perspective on legal, policy and business issues facing the health care community. David is adept at assisting clients in developing new paradigms for their business organizations, relationships and processes so as to maximize the realization of organizational goals in a highly regulated environment, in realms ranging from health data privacy and security to digital health strategy to physician-hospital relationships to facilities development to the avoidance of fraud and abuse. He's been called "an expert on HIPAA and other health-related law issues [who] knows more than virtually anyone on those topics." (Forbes.com.) His award-winning blog, HealthBlawg, is highly regarded in both the legal and health policy blogging worlds. David is a charter member of the external Advisory Board of the Mayo Clinic Center for Social Media. He has served in other leadership roles, including Public Policy Chair of the Society for Participatory Medicine, on the Health Law Section Council of the Massachusetts Bar Association and on the Advisory Board of FierceHealthIT. He speaks regularly before health care and legal industry groups on business, policy and legal matters. You should follow him on Twitter.

Square Peg in a Round Hole: Data Privacy & Security Laws & Standards Meet Medicine 2.0

See my slides and hear my talk at this slidecast link: <http://j.mp/DCHslidecastPrivacySecurity>

Existing laws and regulations limit innovation in payment, incentives for collaboration and health care delivery generally -- because they are focused on the fee-for-service environment. Similarly, privacy and security rules, based on a worldview at least a decade out of date, hamper the frictionless sharing of data by patients, providers and others in the Medicine 2.0 environment. ...

ACOs, Bundled Payments, and the Specialist

Orthopedic surgeons, like all specialists, need a steady flow of referrals, and adequate reimbursement for services. Health reform is making it harder to succeed. We all need to get smart about ACOs, shared savings, bundled payments, because they represent the future.

Health Care Social Media - An Introduction to Engaging Intelligently and Legally

Learn more about the value of social media tools, the range of issues they present, and some key strategies for using these tools effectively while steering clear of trouble by social media expert and charter member of the Advisory Board of the Mayo Clinic Center for Social Media, David Harlow.

The federal government is trying to reinvent the health care system through a number of programs. One of them is the program for Medicare. Another is a series of initiatives from the CMS Center for Innovation, including bundled payment initiatives. Commercial insurers have already deployed ACO-like approaches to contracting with their provider networks, stepping away from traditional FFS payment and towards P4P.

Testimonials

Kevin Clauson

One of the more fiery sessions I saw at Medicine 2.0'12 @ Harvard, was coincidentally the one I chaired on "Ethical & legal issues, confidentiality and privacy". This was not one of those sessions you moderate where you have to come up with questions for the presenter in the absence of any from the audience! Attorney David Harlow (of the Harlow Group and the excellent HealthBlawg) presented, "Square Peg In a Round Hole: Data Privacy And Security Laws And Standards Meet Medicine 2.0" to a completely packed house (that was standing room only at times). Harlow's presentation was one of the first in which it was clear from the start the the number of questions would far outstrip the number of minutes allotted for them. -- from <http://j.mp/Wren>
