

David Y. Choi, Ph.D.

Professor of Entrepreneurship, College of Business Administration at Loyola Marymount University
Los Angeles, CA, US

Director, Fred Kiesner Center for Entrepreneurship

Biography

Dr. David Y. Choi has had an active career as an academic, consultant and entrepreneur over the last 20 years. Dr. Choi has been a faculty member at LMU since 2003 and is director of the nationally-ranked Fred Kiesner Center for Entrepreneurship. He has taught undergraduate and MBA courses in entrepreneurship, entrepreneurial finance, social entrepreneurship and technology management at LMU as well as other institutions around the world including Peking University and Korea University. Dr. Choi is a winner of a national teaching award from the United States Association of Business and Entrepreneurship (USABE). He has been featured or quoted in many business publications, including The Wall Street Journal, Los Angeles Times, Fortune, Los Angeles Business Journal and Business2.0, among others. Dr. Choi has started, run, or owned businesses in several industries including biotechnology, software, financial services, and foods.

Industry Expertise

Management Consulting, Financial Services, Education/Learning, Internet, Biotechnology, Food and Beverages

Areas of Expertise

New Venture Creation and Design, Financing of Entrepreneurial Companies, Management of High Tech Ventures, Social Entrepreneurship, Small Business, Job Creation, Business Management, Entrepreneurship

Education

University of California at Los Angeles
Ph.D. Management

University of California at Berkeley
MS Industrial Engineering

University of California at Berkeley
B.Sc. Industrial Engineering

Accomplishments

Innovative Pedagogy for Entrepreneurship Education Award

Innovative Pedagogy for Entrepreneurship Education Award by the United States Association of Business and Entrepreneurship (USABE)

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.