Description

Doug is President and C.E.O. of The Beacon Group and author of the provocative, forward thinking business book titled "Straight Talk on Leadership" published by John Wiley & Sons in 2013.

He guides the company in providing relevant, state of the art Leadership Development, Organizational Effectiveness, Strategic Planning and Performance Management solutions to private and public sector organizations in North America, the United Kingdom, Europe, the Middle East and Australia.

Throughout his 30+ year international business career, Doug has been involved in initiating positive transformational change and improving the effectiveness of countless C Suite teams.

Prior to forming The Beacon Group Doug held several senior executive level positions with a number of large international institutions in both North America and Europe and within the Canadian Federal Government.

While in Ottawa, he played an instrumental role in the introduction of legislation to support and encourage the growth and financing of "knowledge based industries" and served as a Special Advisor in the Office of the Prime Minister. As a member of the 1992 Commission on Economic Prosperity, he was the author of their report - Financing the New Economy.

The Art of Strategic Thinking

The turbulent world in which we currently live, requires leaders to develop their organizational strategy in some new and more relevant ways. The long held Strategic Planning bias and methodology of the past has given way to an new emphasis on the power and benefits of Strategic Thinking.

The Secrets to Transformational Leadership

The role of the leader today is not to enforce order and discipline but rather, to ensure the organization can readily transform itself in ways which will allow it to better serve its stakeholders. The skills and attributes of the transformational leader are different than those required in more stable and certain times.

Megatrends & Seismic Shifts - Coping with the New Reality

We are all subject to significant economic, social and technological forces which are shaping the context in which we live and lead. As much as we might wish otherwise, these forces are not under our own control. Understanding what they are and how they impact our organization is a major leadership responsibility.

The Leadership Secrets of Hidden Champions

The business press likes to feature articles and analysis on the big, well known organizations and their trials and tribulations - sometimes even their success. However, there are countless, less well know organizations who have found a way to quietly dominate their own "space" on a global scale. These organizations provide valuable lessons for the enduring success of any organization.

Leading through Chaos & Disruption

There is an emerging body of thought leadership suggesting the best way to survive, thrive and dominate today is to embrace a "hypercompetitive" posture. This means embracing chaos theory and practising the principles of disruptive innovation. While it may sound dangerous on the surface, it is a much better alternative than a slow, painful death caused by the inability to compete in a demanding environment.

Testimonials

Warren Bell

"It is clearly time for Canadian business leaders to confront our national leadership dilemma. In the most recent book Straight Talk on Leadership, Williamson lays out a compelling agenda for leaders to act on to prepare us for a successful tomorrow."

Rupert Duchesne

"Williamson's approach is effective and real-world: confront truths; wear them; and move forward fast to accountable action. His book Straight Talk on Leadership, is an invaluable recipe as to the how, and why it's critical to Canada's economic future."

Eric Siegel

"Doug's book, Straight Talk on Leadership is for leaders who aspire to make a difference by transforming their organizations for global competitiveness. It is for those who approach leadership as a privilege to be re-earned each and every day, rather than a reward for past successes. Doug covers the landscape of issues facing leaders today in a compelling, insightful manner, and always with the frankness for which he is respected in the business community."

Naseem Somani

"The turbulent fast changing times we live in pose great leadership challenges. There are no easy leadership recipes. Doug Williamson's unvarnished straight talk puts the environment in global perspective and provides leaders with a competency framework suited to the times we live in. A must read!"

Robert Corteau

"Succeeding in global markets require an aggressive and competitive style, and Doug has created a "must read" blueprint for success. Open communications and high transparency are the hallmarks of the best run companies. In Straight Talk, Doug Williamson makes a no nonsense, patriotic plea for pragmatic leadership in the boardroom and a wonderful road map for high performance results on the international stage."

Mark Young

"Doug Williamson's book recognizes the unique position occupied by Canada in a changing global economy. He reinforces the need for Canadian business leaders to take advantage of that perspective by demonstrating a new type of leadership better suited to building not only highly profitable but also sustainable business organizations in this changing world. Rightfully, he sounds a warning in the event we do not heed the call to action."

Johanne R. B langer

"If you are currently a leader in Canada, or aspire to be a successful one someday, this is a must read book. From the title of the Introduction "Moving Backward at the Speed of Light" - Doug's book, Straight Talk on Leadership has forced me to stop, think and plan action to change."

John Martin

"Doug Williamson understands the fabric of Canada. Strategy has been his forte and his book, Straight Talk on Leadership brings this to life. He sees the need for new leadership in business so that Canada itself is a global leader. This is lofty, but necessary thinking.

I would hope that not only business leaders, but that many of our political "leaders" would read and follow Doug's teachings. He has hit the nail on the head!"

Judson Whiteside

"Doug's book, Straight Talk on Leadership takes us out of our comfort zone. He challenges us to not accept the established norms and lets us know the consequences if we do. A mandatory read for all those who realize that businesses and institutions lacking in visionary leadership won't reach their potential and often will actually fail".

Nick Orlando

"Motivating employees is the key to successful growth, both in Canada and elsewhere. The challenge for managers of international growth, is the tailoring of management and incentive tools to reflect the cultural differences of employees in different countries. Doug's years of experience in assisting managers to identify and resolve these business issues are now available for all to read in his book Straight Talk on Leadership."

Mary Ellen Carlyle

"The world is now more than ever a changing landscape. Straight Talk on Leadership - Solving Canada's Business Crisis, is an excellent and thoughtful read that extends the knowledge base of leadership and provides valuable insights. It clearly defines the challenges facing the modern business leader. This book rises like Everest, above all other leadership books."

David Harris

"It is refreshing to find a uniquely Canadian perspective on leadership – the business challenges we face and the opportunities afforded us. This is what Doug delivers best – straight talk – without pulling any punches."

Douglas Harrison

"Straight Talk is a must read for all current and future Canadian leaders. As a country, Doug's call for greater leadership and transformational leadership is timely and well warranted."

Phillip Crawley

"The Beacon Group's program proved to be a transformational experience for our staff, and has created a new, more open culture of creativity and collaboration that has given The Globe and Mail a marked and measurable competitive advantage."

Doug Lord

"The Beacon Group delivered cutting edge perspectives on many human capital topics that were tailored and customized to our company in a way that we could not have obtained at more generic, cookie-cutter advising shops."

Sylvia Chrominska

The Global HR & Communications senior team engaged Doug Williamson in shepherding us through a unique strategic planning process that involved an outside-in view of our current and future workforce and how this aligns to our business strategy. Thanks to Doug and his team it was a thought provoking process that sharpened our strategic thinking and, in the end, made our strategy stronger."

Suanne Nielsen

“Top-level thought leadership, combined with practical, cost-effective solutions” that’s the real value the Beacon Group team brings to bear on Foresters talent challenges.

Don Forgeron

Doug Williamson and his team were of invaluable assistance in helping our organization navigate through a completely new strategic planning process and emerge with a three year plan resoundingly endorsed by our Board. Doug’s global perspectives and ability to drive consensus was an integral part of our success.

João Ricciarelli

“SKF approached The Beacon Group to develop our Talent Management program. The process implemented by Doug Williamson and his team was extremely important for us in determining how to execute the program on a clear, organized and systematic way. This was one of our most important projects that will enable us to ensure our sustainable growth.”

Tony Ambler

The big contribution was The Beacon Group challenged our culture and our comfort level. We then arrived at a clear plan of concise deliverables that we needed to execute to move forward on our vision.

John Ferguson

“Through its sound and strategically practical business knowledge and experience The Beacon Group has and continues to assist SCI in better understanding and enabling our organization to build engaged teams and leadership capability to help make our supply chain clients more competitive.”
