

Frederick Steier, PhD

Doctoral Faculty - School of Leadership Studies at Fielding Graduate University

Temple Terrace, FL, US

Cybernetics researcher

Frederick Steier is a member of the doctoral faculty in the School of Leadership Studies. Frederick Steier is also on the faculty of the Department of Communication at the University of South Florida. He is the editor of Gregory Bateson: Essays for an Ecology of Ideas (Imprint Academic, 2005) and a scientist-in-residence at the Center for Learning at the Museum of Science and Industry in Tampa, Florida, USA, where he is involved in participatory action research oriented studies of collaborative learning and play.

He received his doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania in Social Systems Sciences in 1983. In 1985-86 he had the honor being a King Olav V Fellow at the University of Oslo through the American-Scandinavian Foundation.

Education/Learning, Research

Cybernetics, Constructionist Research Methodologies, Relationships Between Information Technologies, Organizational and Inter-Organizational Communication, Work Teams and Communication Processes

American Society for Cybernetics (President, 1989-91), International Communication Association;
International Society for Systems Sciences

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.