

Erika V. Hall

Assistant Professor of Organization & Management at Emory University, Goizueta Business School
Atlanta, GA, US

Hall's research focuses on the influence of race, gender, and class-based implicit biases on interactions within the workplace.

Biography

Erika V. Hall joined the Goizueta Business School faculty in 2014. Hall earned a PhD in Management & Organizations from the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University. Her research focuses on the influence of race, gender, and class-based biases on interactions within the workplace and the broader society. Further, Professor Hall looks at how leaders with multiple minority identities are perceived in teams and organizations. Professor Hall's work has appeared in academic journals such as Academy of Management Review, Journal of Applied Psychology, Psychological Science, and American Psychologist, and media outlets such as The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Atlantic, and NPR. In 2016, she was honored as one of the "The World's Best 40 Under 40 Business Professors" in Poets & Quants. Prior to graduate school, Hall was a Research Associate at Harvard Business School.

Industry Expertise

Education/Learning, Research

Areas of Expertise

Race Gender and Class in the Workplace, Minorities in Organizations, Organization and Management, Social Psychology

Affiliations

Academy of Management : Member, PhD Project : Member, SPSP : Member, APS : Member

Event Appearances

What's in a name? The powerful effects of labels for others and the self
Society for Personality and Social Psychology conference

Exploring the consequences of gendered race for person-role fit
Society for Experimental Social Psychologists conference

Writing (and Talking) Differently about Diversity: Addressing the Normalization of Othering
Academy of Management conference

A rose by any other name? "Blacks" are more negatively evaluated than "African-Americans."
Academy of Management conference

A rose by any other name? “Blacks” are more negatively evaluated than “African-Americans.”
International Association for Conflict Management conference

Education

Kellogg School of Management, Northwestern University
Ph.D. Management & Organizations

Robert H. Smith School of Business, University of Maryland
B.S. Finance

Accomplishments

Honored in Atlanta Business Chronicle’s “30 under 30” list
2016

Selected into LEAD Atlanta
Class of 2016

Promising Young Scholar Research Excellence Award
The PhD Project, 2013

Travel Grant Award, Dispute Resolution Research Center
2013

Travel Grant Award, Dispute Resolution Research Center
2012

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.