Fly High: How to Create, Innovate and Lead at the Highest Level

Building a successful business requires, among other things, developing the ability to take risks. A great example of individuals and teams accomplishing extraordinary results based on their ability to embrace risk are Flying Trapeze artists, and this presentation explores seven specific insights from the world of Circus, that entrepreneurs can adapt and develop in order to build a successful business.

Customer Experience as the Catalyst for Digital Transformation

Digital is changing how people make decisions and how they want to do business. In fact, every industry, as we know it, will be disrupted by digital technologies and regardless of industry or geography; businesses will become much more digitized in the future. It's inevitable.

Therefore, organizations must adapt and embrace digital transformation to drive higher levels of profit, productivity, and performance.

Customer Experience is the catalyst for Digital Transformation. The experience people have and share is the future of branding, marketing, and customer engagement. This is why you must become an experience architect who can re-imagine and rebuild a new customer journey to create meaningful and shareable experiences in every moment, blurring the line between digital and physical customer experiences.

Testimonials

Dermot Corr

Ivan has the rare ability to communicate complex ideas and concepts in an engaging way. He has captivated audiences, he can challenge an audience of experts and manage to make them rethink some long held beliefs whilst providing key takeaway points that many attendees were able to put into action.

Ivan is a master of his craft, his intellect, wit and charisma add to any event he is involved in - he always ensures that his presentations are relevant to the audience. At every event I have organised I have had amazing feedback about his presentations - put simply - if you want an exceptional speaker who will create significant value to your audience Ivan should be top of your list.

Vladimir Vulic

It's not every day that I instantly "click" with a person, but that was the case with Ivan. We connected via Twitter, and after getting to know him better, and watching some of his talks online, I invited him to speak at Spark.me 2014 in Montenegro. Ivan delivered a talk on digital transformation and innovation, and absolutely owned the Spark.me stage.

His combination of substance, in-depth knowledge and humor really resonated with the audience. I was especially impressed by Ivan's kindness and willingness to interact with the attendees during the breaks and social gatherings, as well as his patience and consideration to accept numerous photo requests.

I wholeheartedly recommend Ivan as a speaker to every conference program director!

Tadeusz Zorawski

I saw Ivan's speech at InfoShare 2016 conference and it was definitely one of the three best presentations. Through using his fascinating personal experience, Ivan explains the current challenges of business world in such a way that the audience is fully captivated. It is great to see Ivan's integrity and his motivational skills in what he does. I would love to hear his further speeches and see his next works!

Grzegorz Ruzala

I had a chance – and a great pleasure – to host Ivan as one of the keynote speakers during my Innovation Week @ CBRE EMEA GBS in 2015.

Ivan delivered a fantastic, inspiring speech on customer experience as the catalyst for digital transformation, explaining why organizations must adapt and embrace digital transformation to drive higher levels of profit, productivity, and performance. Relevant and hot topic, combined with confidence and passion presented by this great storyteller, was one of the key success factors of this outstanding event. Concluding: great job!

Anna Kreiser

Ivan is an exceptional Speaker who knows how to make a real connection with the audience. He invested the time upfront to understand what we were looking for and to deliver professional content tailored to our audience. During his talk he challenged the participants who attended the event to think about different ways to approach digital transformation. Feedback from the event was overwhelming positive and I really appreciate all the efforts Ivan devoted to giving us such a valuable presentation.

Filip Debowski

I met Ivan when he was speaking at the prestigious Webit Global Congress in Istanbul, where I immediately noticed how extremely passionate and open-minded professional he is. When I invited him as the keynote speaker for hub:raum WARP (Deutsche Telekom's startup accelerator), he showed himself as a visionary expert bringing the inspiration and creativity to the next level.

Jasna Trengoska

Ivan really brings the thunder on stage! An exceptional Speaker, motivator and a moving encyclopedia is just a modest way of describing him. He has a great way of connecting with the audience and keeping them engaged and focused. He always delivers meaningful content which then becomes the topic of many off-stage and networking conversations.

Madeline Urbaniak

Thinking about a professional speaker, Ivan is the first person that comes to my mind. He is able to explain important problems comprehensibly. Each presentation contains a huge dose of motivation. Worth every single minute of listening! Do you know what's the best part? Watching his advice being implemented in my business and seeing spectacular results.

Ralph Talmont

Ivan impresses with the perfect balance of approachable personality, long term vision and deep professionalism. I have had the pleasure of having Ivan as the opening speaker at the 2010 TEDxWarsaw where his mix of good humour and thoughtful insight immediately set the day off on the right foot.
