Innovator's Mindset: 7 Skills of Highly Effective Innovators

Innovative thinking is a lifestyle. It is a skill. And above all, it is a skill that can be learned. Ideas are always around us, but we are often not in a state of mind to recognize them. Innovation requires a certain mindset to connect the dots and generate ideas. Just like mastering any other skill, innovative thinking requires building and practicing some basic habits to see opportunities in everyday life. Learn the habits of some of the greatest innovators, from Leonardo Da Vinci to David Kelly, to awaken the innovator inside you.

Testimonials

R. Simms

I emailed my boss in the middle of Jag's presentation to implement this program.

B. Kirsh

Aha moment: innovation does not equal to invention. I loved the way Jag engaged everyone.
