

Jan Hux

Chief Science Officer at Diabetes Canada

Toronto, ON, CA

Providing scientific and strategic direction to Diabetes Canada.

Dr. Jan Hux is the Chief Science Officer at Diabetes Canada. She is a clinician-scientist, trained as a general internist and health services researcher. She holds an MD from University of Toronto and a Masters in Epidemiology from Harvard. For 20 years, she held a variety of research and executive roles at the Institute for Clinical Evaluative Sciences (ICES) in Ontario, where she was responsible for developing and leading the diabetes health services research portfolio. She has over 100 peer-reviewed publications.

In her role at Diabetes Canada, she facilitates strategic collaboration in research funding as well as actively supporting knowledge translation to the board range of diabetes audiences.

Health and Wellness, Research, Training and Development, Education/Learning, Health Care - Services

Diabetes, Public Health, Epidemiology, Internal Medicine, Healthcare Communications, End Stage Renal Disease, Drug Utilization

University of Toronto, Departments of Medicine and Health Policy, Management and Evaluation : Adjunct Professor, ICES : Adjunct Scientist

Keynote Speaker

Innovation in Diabetes Care: 90 Years and Beyond

Harvard School of Public Health

S.M. Epidemiology

University of Toronto

M.D. Medicine

The University of Western Ontario

M.Sc. Organometallic Photochemistry

The University of Western Ontario

B.Sc. Chemistry

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.