

Jane Hilderman

Executive Director at Samara Canada

Toronto, ON, CA

Jane Hilderman leads Samara Canada, a trusted nonpartisan educational charity dedicated to strengthening Canada's democracy.

Description

Jane works to bring Samara's mission--to reconnect citizens to politics--to life. She frequently discusses Samara's work in the media and with Canadians across the country. Her previous roles at Samara include Research Director, where she shaped Samara's groundbreaking research that explores Canadians' participation in democracy, how Members of Parliament do their jobs, and citizen perceptions of politics.

Jane joined Samara after working on Parliament Hill for both government and opposition MPs through the longstanding Parliamentary Internship Programme, a prestigious program for young professionals. She holds degrees from the School of Public Policy & Governance at the University of Toronto (MPP) and Queen's University (BAH). Jane is also a Fellow of the Royal Canadian Geographical Society, which seeks to make Canada better known to Canadians and the world.

Originally from Camrose, Alberta, where she grew up on a family farm, Jane uses her marathon training to explore her new home, Toronto.
