

Jeff Hensiek

Director of Digital Marketing at Office Evolution

Greater Denver Area, CO, US

Digital Marketing for Multi Unit Businesses.

Description

I'm a results driven marketing professional that uses research, analytics and technology to help clients develop a solid online presence and a winning ROI.

I enjoy being able to take numbers (analytics) and combine that with solid & proven digital marketing strategies to develop custom marketing recommendations for my clients. Many times, these recommendations can include two elements:

- 1) Niche marketing to a specific audience
- 2) Implementing a variety of products like; SEO, PPC, Social Media, Google+ and more.

Once the campaigns are implemented, it is critical to the overall goal to keep on top of the reporting and the overall performance of the campaign. I also enjoy making calculated recommendations to clients, seeing the recommendations implemented and seeing the result.

We all know that technology changes very rapidly. Therefore, it's important to keep on top of technology and effectively implement tools/technology/digital marketing strategies that will provide a good ROI.

I like learning about new technology because it keeps opening up new marketing ideas and further expanding the capabilities of what is possible. This becomes even more fun when I can develop digital marketing programs and products for our clients to implement.

I'm also having a good time developing the video training and processes for our partners, vendors and staff. I've lead CRM training, sales development training and used videos to educate our clients and partners. This is something with which I am familiar and I did a lot of this while working with Mentor Financial Group.

In addition to the video training, I do enjoy educating people in large groups by presenting on stage.

I enjoy being the go-to for just about everything...and having the staff to help me support the objectives.
