Biography

Hey there! I'm Jennie Mustafa-Julock, New York City's own Audacity Coach - but if you're short on minutes, you can call me Coach Jennie. I'm a life coach specializing in helping "pretty awesome" people elevate into Extraordinary Individuals, with adventurous missions + lifestyles to match. I diagnose suckdom, delineate strategies + drive people to ditch their dusty dreams and drum up new ones that rock. My latest & greatest slice of audacious goodness is my brand new book, Audacity Rules: A cathartic shove towards self-actualized brilliance [<http://audacityrules.com>]. This self-guided program packs all the juiciest, most life-altering wisdom & strategies I've perfected in my 6 years of coaching into one simply gorgeous illustrated adventure. I'm happy to send you a sample chapter on request ? just shoot me an email. I know you're gonna love it! I'm also an absolutely electric speaker, and my live gigs are 3-hour, high-voltage workshop experiences - in-your-face, in-your-space, and totally tailored to your crew. I've synthesized my 12-week Audacity PACT Program into rapid-fire, half-day workshop experiences designed to give your team, department or classroom the fuel they need to kick their pro and personal game up to the next level. Accomplishments

First Generation College Graduate

I grew up in poverty and was the first person in my family to graduate high school, go onto college, and, just for kicks, continue on to complete my Masters degree. As an at-risk kid, I was mentored by my Big Sister (Big Brothers/Big Sisters of America). She taught me how to believe in unlimited possibilities. My work is all about paying that forward.
