

Jennifer Abe

Professor of Psychology at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Bellarmino College of Liberal Arts

Biography

Jennifer Abe is a professor of psychology at Loyola Marymount University. She teaches courses in liberation psychologies, general psychology, and psychology, spirituality, and culture. She served as an associate dean of the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts from 2005-10, and lived in Córdoba, Argentina between 2013-15 where she served as a founding co-director of LMU's Casa de la Mateada program. In Spring 2017, Jennifer received a research fellowship from the Center for Christian Thought at Biola University to support her research on the topic of cultural humility. Jennifer is also a senior research associate with the Psychology Applied Research Center at LMU for the California Reducing Disparities Project (CRDP).

Areas of Expertise

Help-seeking for mental health services among Asian Americans, Cultural competence/cultural humility in mental health service delivery, Asian American mental health

Affiliations

LMU-Psychology Applied Research Center (PARC), LMU-Casa de la Mateada program, American Psychological Association , Asian American Psychological Association

Education

University of California, Los Angeles

Ph. D Psychology

University of California, Los Angeles

M.A. Psychology

Wheaton College

B.A. Psychology

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.