

Jennifer (Jeno) Rivera

Director & Associate Professor at Michigan State University

East Lansing, MI, US

Strengthening teaching and learning through coaching.

Biography

A former high school teacher, Jennifer “Jeno” Rivera began her tenure at MSU in the Department of Community Sustainability researching best practices for secondary teacher preparation. This research spring boarded her curiosities to include community education and engagement and to become the Director of the Liberty Hyde Bailey Scholars Program in the CANR. Rivera's recent scholarship identifies teaching and learning components that impend or foster learning through experience. As an Associate Professor in the Residential College in the Arts and Humanities (RCAH), she collaborates in the development, implementation, and evaluation of innovative educational programs that promote self-directed learning.
