

John David Dionisio

Professor of Electrical Engineering & Computer Science at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Seaver College of Science and Engineering

Biography

Contact:

Phone: 310.338.5782

Email: dondi@lmu.edu

Office: Doolan Hall 106

John Dionisio is a Professor in the Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science at LMU. He started teaching part-time at LMU in 2002, joining the faculty full-time in 2004. Prior to that, Dr. Dionisio was a part of the Medical Imaging Informatics group at UCLA, which he had joined shortly after receiving his Ph.D. in computer science from the same institution in December, 1996. Dr. Dionisio also works as a consultant and software developer in local industry (a.k.a. Silicon Beach). From 2002 to 2012 he helped develop health care information systems with Medaxis Corporation, a company he co-founded. Since then, he has done work for DataPop (now Criteo) in Culver City, Friendbuy in Los Angeles, and Toku Technologies in West LA. Dr. Dionisio is a member of the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) with special interests in computer-human interaction (SIGCHI), computer graphics (SIGGRAPH), and computer science education (SIGCSE).

Industry Expertise

Education/Learning, Computer Software, Research

Areas of Expertise

Computer Science, Interaction Design, Computer Graphics

Affiliations

Medaxis Corporation

Event Appearances

Speaker

Beyond Biology 2010

Education

University of California at Los Angeles
Ph.D. Computer Science

University of California at Los Angeles
M.A. Computer Science

Loyola Marymount University
B.Sc. Computer Science

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.