Biography

Leadership is about taking people where they would not get to on their own; influencing them to make a difference in their personal and professional lives. Most dictionaries describe leadership as a noun; I believe that leadership is a verb a word of action – creating a flow in you and your team that moves you to places of greater potential.

As a John Maxwell Coach, Trainer, and Speaker, I can offer you workshops, seminars, keynote speaking, and coaching, aiding your personal and professional growth through study and practical application of John's proven leadership methods. Working together, I will move you and/or your team or organization in the desired direction to reach your goals.

Since 2007 I have personally used the John Maxwell tools to challenge, motivate and serve the marketplace through simulcasts, luncheons, workshops and coaching in the arena of values-based leadership development. As the founder and CEO of the McAfee Institute, I am able to bring my talent and experiences as an accomplished speaker, teacher and coach, to challenge, motivate and serve individuals or groups I work with. It is through my servant leadership style that I have especially been able to communicate and connect, successfully leading people to places of significance in their business and personal lives.

It would be my privilege to help you reach your purpose and potential through an intentional plan of development. Through my commitment to making a difference in the lives of others, I have the privilege to speak to groups some 51 weeks a year, coach up to 20 individuals per year, and train a handful of groomed leaders multiplying their leadership potential.
