Mastering the Art of Communications

Achieving personal and business goals is contingent on our ability to communicate. Saying the right words is not enough. You need to understand your goals, yourself and your audience. This talk explores communication techniques, emotional intelligence and communication psychology.

What Trainers/Educators can Learn from Marketers

The marketing industry has spent trillions understanding how to effectively reach the masses. And once reached, how to optimize the uptake of ideas, processes, products, and more. The techniques and principles implicit to marketing and relevant to learning as well. Trainers are competing for attention the same way marketers are but the game is stacked against trainers. Using effective marketing and communications principles in training and development turns learning into a personal experience. And ultimately delivers better results.

What Marketers and Educators can Learn from the Music Industry

The way the music industry operated became irrelevant to the consumer many years ago. Technology and music consumption preferences outpaced the music industry's evolution. Take a look at the technologies, trends and use cases of today to analyse the relevance of your industry approach. Then you can begin thinking critically about where you are and where you want to be.

How to Create Employee Super Fans That Attack Company Goals With Conviction

There are some basics to communication psychology that every leader needs to know. Individuals have at their core a set of values and beliefs from which they build rules and expectations and then an environment.

Employers face one of two scenarios--either your employees are already united by their underlying values and beliefs (you simply need to find out what those are), or you need to research and create a unifying set of values and beliefs that will unite your team. If you are a leader working off a false understanding of your staff, you may be missing your true super fans and the key to growth.

Claudia Astudillo - client

It has been a pleasure to work with Juliana. She strives to give the best possible service to her clients regardless of the perceived obstacles and barriers her clients present. Juliana is a great motivator and encourages her clients to empower themselves. She is very professional, reliable and trustworthy, and definitely a great asset to anyone she works with.

Deanna Natalizio

“I’d like to think I speak on behalf of the majority of job seekers when I say how exasperating the entire job hunt can be, resume writing included. It may be its required narcissism, the appeal it makes to memory (which if you’re like me, can never be relied upon), or the self-defeatist notion that your accomplishments to date might not make the cut, but for whatever reason, I felt almost paralyzed by the thought of condensing the whole of me to select bullet points. As a result, my version of a resume was a patchwork of fact and fiction, things I thought employers would want to hear, and insincerely vaunted professional experiences. I chose to contact Juliana for help in designing a resume to impress. In working with Juliana, I was forced to take an introspective look at myself, which unlike my previous attempts, allowed me to celebrate my achievements and address areas for self-improvement. Juliana’s process for unearthing resume-worthy attributes was in no way intrusive, but consistently encouraging. I was more than pleased with the end product; a polished, expertly styled resume that I am happy to shop around to prospective employers. Hitting the “send” button comes with a new-found confidence!”

“Juliana’s have been the one set of eyes that have reviewed my important written works through my years in academia. She has also been pivotal in identifying new opportunities for me to pursue. She has been a real cheerleader, who shared in some of my brightest moments and most significant accomplishments.”

Anonymous Workshop Attendee

“Juliana was fantastic. My expectations were exceeded. Thanks!”

Anonymous Workshop Attendee

“Juliana was articulate and empathetic to various participants pasts and experiences.”

Anonymous Workshop Attendee

“I feel it was very important that the instructor was so down to earth and implemented her own life experiences. I was able to relate and open up as I would not normally do.”

Anonymous Workshop Attendee

“Magnifico! Great passion, empathy and understanding of others. I mostly liked Juliana’s personal reflections, openness and the way she engaged the class.”

Anonymous Workshop Attendee

“Very interesting and positive.”

Anonymous Workshop Attendee
