

Kevin Fickenscher, MD

Public Trustee at Fielding Graduate University

Washington, DC, US

Technical Director of the Health Transformation Center of the MITRE Corporation

Kevin M. Fickenscher, M.D., CPE, FACPE, FAAFP is the Chairman and Founder of CREO Strategic Solutions, LLC – an organization focused on senior executive strategic support in managing the new healthcare world, leadership development; and, the use of innovative technologies for care delivery. Previously, he served in a variety of positions for Dell Healthcare Services (NASDAQ: DELL) on both a domestic and international basis. His Dell experiences were preceded by leadership roles with Perot Systems, where he served as the Chief Medical Officer, developed and led the healthcare consulting practice, served as the head of International Healthcare Services based in London. Perot Systems was acquired by Dell, Inc. in November 2009. Prior to these technology based experiences, he served in as the Chief Medical Officer for Catholic Healthcare West based in California and Aurora Health Care based in Milwaukee.

Dr. Fickenscher is a recognized physician executive leader with extensive experience in strategic and operational development in complex healthcare organizations. He is a thought leader related to technology and information management and holds extensive experience in organizational transformation and development, physician management, health policy analysis, leadership development, clinical quality and resource/care management, among other areas.

Dr. Fickenscher is considered to be a dynamic, visionary leader in healthcare throughout the world. He has consistently been ranked among the Most Powerful Physician Executives in Healthcare by Modern Healthcare. He is a regular participant in discussions and debates related to the future of healthcare, including testimony before Congress and participation in a variety of international healthcare forums. Among his other accomplishments are his selection as a Regional White House Fellow finalist [1984], a Kellogg National Fellow [1985], an Emerging Leader in Healthcare [1991], as the Health Advisor to the 1988 Biden for President Campaign; and, as a member on the Clinton Healthcare Task Force.

Dr. Fickenscher graduated from the University of North Dakota School of Medicine in 1978 and trained as a family physician. He obtained his Family Practice Board-Certification in 1982, and is a Certified Physician Executive and Fellow with the American College of Physician Executives and a Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians.

Health and Wellness, Research, Corporate Leadership

Future of Health Care, Quality and Patient Safety, Innovation and Change Management, Performance Improvement, Health Care Reform, Leadership

American Academy of Family Physicians : Member, American Medical Informatics Association : Member, American Association of Physician Leadership : Member, American Academy of Family Practice : Member, Council of Medical Speciality Societies : Member

The University of North Dakota School of Medicine and Health Sciences
MD Healthcare Administration and Management

Emerging Health Care Leader
1991

The Health Care Forum and Korn/Ferry International

President's Award for Leadership in Rural Health
1989

National Rural Health Association

North Dakota National Leadership Award of Excellence
1988

Kellogg National Fellow
1985 - 1988

W. K. Kellogg Foundation

Regional Finalist for The White House Fellowship Program
1984

Award for Scholarship and Leadership
1978

Third District Medical Society

Dr. E. L. Grinnell Memorial Award for Leadership 1978

School of Medicine Recognition Award and Special Award for Community Service
1976 & 1975

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.