Kim Anderson

Associate Professor, Department of Family Relations and Applied Nutrition at University of Guelph
Guelph, ON, CA
Associate Professor, Department of Indigenous Studies

Biography
Kim Anderson is Associate Professor in the Department of Indigenous Studies at Wilfrid Laurier University. Her popular book, A Recognition of Being: Reconstructing Native Womanhood (Women's Press/CSPI, 2000), has recently been published as a second edition. She is also the author of Life Stages and Native Women: Memory, Teachings and Story Medicine (University of Manitoba Press, 2011), and is the series co-editor for the Women and Indigenous Studies Series at UBC Press. Dr. Anderson has co-edited books on Indigenous women and activism, Indigenous mothering and Indigenous men and masculinities. She is the author of over thirty book chapters and journals articles; her research interests lie in the areas of health and well-being of Indigenous families, gender and Indigenous peoples, community-based Indigenous research, oral history and Indigenous knowledge translation, and Indigenous environmental knowledge. Anderson is a long-standing advocate for Indigenous women and families and is regularly involved in community-based research and teaching in this area. She has also worked for fifteen years as a consultant on social and health policy for Indigenous communities and organizations.

Industry Expertise
Education/Learning, Health and Wellness, Public Policy, Program Development, Research

Areas of Expertise

Education
University of Guelph
Ph.D. History

University of Toronto
M.A. Adult Education/Sociology and Equity Studies

University of Toronto
B.A. English Literature

Accomplishments
Early Researcher Award Province of Ontario
This is an award that will facilitate a research project entitled "Indigenous Knowledge Transfer: Gender and Life Stage Factors in Indigenous NGO Management."

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.