

Laura Killam

Registered Nurse/Nursing Professor at Cambrian College

Sudbury, ON, CA

Passionate about personal development, nursing, research, supporting student success, innovative teaching, and relationship development.

Biography

Laura is a Registered Nurse and a Researcher in the School of Health Sciences and Emergency Services.

With a philosophy of 'ace nursing with ease' - she explains complex topics like research, the nursing process and more clearly so students can focus on studying and learning what they need.

A nurse herself, Laura is passionate about supporting nursing students in their education.

Laura recognizes that modern technology and tools like YouTube can be used as an innovative and on-demand teaching tool.

In 2011 she started using YouTube videos to flip the classroom. It is not always possible to find other videos that deliver the exact message she preferred and has gone on to develop her own personalized YouTube Channel as an effective and mobile teaching tool.

From September to June she produces and posts videos bi-weekly based on topic requests from students.

Videos come complete with study tips, focused explanation of areas to study for exams and helpful discussion questions to help students remember and apply what they need to know.

As a professor Laura Killam knows what teachers expect, which is why this channel cuts down study time while helping you get a higher mark.
