

Mariano Bertucci

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Bellarmino College of Liberal Arts

Biography

Mariano Bertucci earned his B.A. in International Relations from the Universidad de San Andres in Buenos Aires, Argentina, and his M.A. in International Studies from the Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver. He received his Ph.D. in Political Science and International Relations from the University of Southern California. Drawing on Political Psychology and Political Sociology, Professor Bertucci's research helps better understand the domestic determinants of some of the most pressing issues in international security and the international political economy. A second strand of his research focuses on how to effectively bridge the theory-policy gap in international affairs. His work has been published in International Studies Perspectives, PS: Political Science & Politics, Latin American Politics and Society, and featured in mass media outlets such as The Huffington Post and Inside Higher Ed. He has lived, worked and researched in places such as Buenos Aires, Tokyo, Brasilia, Santiago, New Orleans and Washington, DC, and volunteered in non-profit organizations helping veterans overcome the traumas of war in Los Angeles, collecting and distributing medical supplies to developing countries in Denver, and facilitating aid work with indigenous people in the region of the Triple Frontier in South America.

Areas of Expertise

Theory-Policy Gap, Foreign Policy Analysis, International Relations Theory, International Political Economy, Logics of Social Action

Education

University of Southern California

Ph.D. Political Science and International Relations

Josef Korbel School of International Studies, University of Denver

M.A. International Studies

Universidad de San Andres, Argentina

B.A. International Relations

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.