

Norman Garrick, Ph.D.

Professor, Civil and Environmental Engineering Department at University of Connecticut
Storrs, CT, US

Professor with a focus on civil engineering, transportation behaviors, parking, public transit, and bicycle lanes.

Biography

Dr. Garrick is Professor in the Department of Civil Engineering and co-Director of the Sustainable Cities Research Group at the University of Connecticut. In these roles he has led groundbreaking research on street networks and their impacts on traffic safety - including bike and pedestrian safety, car travel and the health of citizens; the evolution of parking provision in cities and its impact on the urban fabric of the city and its role in inducing more traffic in cities; the factors contributing to the widening gap between the USA and other developed countries in terms of traffic fatality; the potential societal impacts of autonomous vehicles; the design and operations of streets designed according to shared space concepts.

Areas of Expertise

Shared Spaces, Transit Planning, Urban Planning, Civil Engineering, Urban Street Networks, Bicyclist and Pedestrian Facility Design and Planning

Affiliations

Swiss Federal Institute of Technology, Visiting Professor, Congress for the New Urbanism (CNU), Fellow, National Endowment for the Arts' Mayors Institute on City Design, Member

Education

Purdue University
Ph.D.

Purdue University
M.S.C.E.

University of the West Indies, Trinidad
B.S.C.E.

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.