

Paige Edley

Professor of Communication Studies, College of Communication and Fine Arts at Loyola Marymount University

Los Angeles, CA, US

Associate Professor of Communication Studies

Biography

Professor Edley teaches classes in organizational communication, gender and the workplace, corporate ethics and social responsibility, and qualitative research methods. Her research interests include the intersections of power, gender, and identity in organizations, alternative forms of organizing, work-life balance, and women-owned businesses. She has published multiple book chapters and journal articles in such prestigious journals as Management Communication Quarterly, Communication Yearbook, Electronic Journal of Communication, Women and Language, Argumentation and Advocacy, etc.

In addition, Dr. Edley is committed to issues of social justice and tries to blend activism with her teaching and scholarship. She has participated in local, regional, and national protests of sexist, racist, and greedy organizational practices.

Industry Expertise

Education/Learning, Research, Public Relations and Communications

Areas of Expertise

Organizational Communication, Gender and the Workplace, Corporate Ethics, Social Responsibility, Corporate Social Responsibility, Qualitative Research Methods, Alternative Forms of Organization, Social Justice, Activism

Affiliations

Organization for the Study of Communication, Language, and Gender

Education

Rutgers University at New Brunswick

Ph.D. Communication

Wake Forest University

M.A. Communication

Wake Forest University

B.A. English

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.