Description

Founder and Managing Director of the courier group Uni Baggage Ltd. I founded Uni Baggage while at university to help students transport their luggage to and from their student accommodation. NI Parcels is the second company in the group, which was formed to help businesses operating in Northern Ireland compare courier prices to find the best rate. The final company in the group is Fetch, which is a same day delivery app. This is a startup which will be featured at the Dublin Web Summit.
