

Roxanne Donovan, Ph.D.

Professor of Psychology and Interdisciplinary Studies at Kennesaw State University

Kennesaw, GA, US

Roxanne Donovan's research has an interdisciplinary focus on psychology, gender studies and ethnic studies, particularly Black studies.

Biography

Roxanne Donovan is professor of Psychology and Interdisciplinary Studies at Kennesaw State University. Donovan has published over a dozen journal articles and book chapters on how sociodemographic variables, such as racism and sexism, impact the mental health of people of color, particularly Black women. Donovan is a regular guest on Georgia Public Broadcasting's On Second Thought where she provides expert commentary on issues of well-being, gender, race, and current events. Donovan is also a licensed psychologist in Georgia and does consultation and training on diversity, stress, and work-life balance.

Industry Expertise

Education/Learning, Health and Wellness, Health Care - Providers, Social Services, Public Safety, Program Development

Areas of Expertise

Psychology, Sociology, Community Outreach, Gender Studies, Women's Studies, Immigration, Race and mental health, Work-life priorities

Affiliations

American Psychological Association, WellAcademic

Education

The University of Connecticut

Ph.D. Clinical Psychology

University of Connecticut

Graduate Certificate Women's Studies

University of Connecticut:

M.A., Clinical Psychology

University of Miami

BBA Marketing

Accomplishments

WellAcademic - Founder

WellAcademic's workshops, webinars, and coaching teach overextended faculty, administrators, and graduate students how to find joy, focus, and connection while increasing productivity.

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.