

President Scott L Wyatt

President at Southern Utah University

Cedar City, UT, US

A leader in higher education specializing in creating transformative learning experiences and achieving high-quality outcomes.

Biography

Scott L Wyatt is Southern Utah University's 16th president. His priorities for SUU are summarized in the University's new vision statement: "Southern Utah University will receive national recognition for its innovations in learning, student success, and providing the best educational experience in the Intermountain West." During his time at the university, SUU has led Utah's colleges and universities in student enrollment growth, launched the University of the Parks initiative, opened a new veterans center, started a center for diversity and inclusion, and seen the construction or acquisition of more than $60 million worth of capital improvement projects. Prior to his appointment at SUU, Wyatt served as president of Snow College, in Ephraim, Utah. Before that he was a member of the Utah House of Representatives, a partner in the Logan, Utah law firm, Daines, Wyatt & Jenkins, LLP., and the Cache County Attorney. His public practice focused on prosecuting homicide, domestic violence, and sexual violence cases, along with leading victim services and educational programs. President Wyatt spends most of his time supporting students, staff, and faculty, as they explore diverse ideas, create transformative learning experiences, and achieve high-quality outcomes. Wyatt earned a bachelor's degree from Utah State University, with a dual major in philosophy and economics. His J.D. is from the University of Utah S.J. Quinney College of Law.
