

Tony Pellegrini

Professor of Education at Southern Utah University

Cedar City, UT, US

Specializing in online learning, asynchronous learning, and web-based instructional tools

Biography

Dr. Tony Pellegrini is a professor of education at Southern Utah University. He teaches and presents, regionally and internationally, on topics involving 21st-century learning and learners, web-based learning tools and approaches, and methods and approaches for crafting graduate research initiatives.

Dr. Pellegrini came to Southern Utah University after a twelve-year career as a principal, including time spent at Blanding Elementary School and Three Falls Elementary school in southern Utah. During this time, he served as the President of the Utah Association of Elementary School Principals and as the state representative for Utah for the National Association of Elementary School Principals.

Dr. Pellegrini earned a bachelor of arts in theatre education from Brigham Young University, a master of education in secondary education and educational administration from Utah State University and a doctorate of education in educational leadership and higher education from the University of Nevada.

Industry Expertise

Program Development, Corporate Training, Education/Learning, Internet

Areas of Expertise

Curriculum Design, Web-based Instructional Tools, Online Learning, Education, 21st Century Learning, Asynchronous Learning, Higher Education

Affiliations

National Association of Elementary School Principals

Education

University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Ed.D. Educational Leadership and Higher Education

Utah State University

M.Ed. Secondary Education and Educational Administration

Brigham Young University

B.A. Theatre Education

Accomplishments

Technology Innovator of the Year 2005

Utah State System of Higher Education

Exemplar of Technology Delivered Instruction
Utah System of Higher Education, 2005

Please click here to view the full profile.

This profile was created by Expertfile.